Moroi Agent

CORPORATE ENFORCER

You are a corporate enforcer, employed by Moroi industries.

The shareholders of Moroi have become dissatisfied with the performance of "Professor" Wellingleby, the chief scientist of the station. Your job is to find out what's really going on at the station, and to protect any valuable assets you can find. We have reason to believe that the facility has been infiltrated by rival corporations: you are authorised to use lethal force if you find any of these infiltrators. Your primary goal, that supersedes all others, is to protect the corporate interests and assets of Moroi corp. Do not hesitate to use force to protect these assets.

Delta Green Agent

CONTAINMENT · OCCULT THREATS

You are an undercover agent employed by a Delta Green, a secret US government agency that started as a splinter group from the CIA. The purpose of Delta Green is to find and stamp out the occult: dark magic, satanic cults, and worshippers of Cthulhu.

You have received a report from your handler detailing rumoured occult activity within the Moroi deep-sea research facility. The report talks about a verbal pathogen: a word or phrase that, when spoken aloud, can infect those who hear it. The phrase is likely in the occult language R'lyehian.

It is not known how dangerous the phrase is. Your training has given you some resistance to these kind of infections, but you are not fully immune. You think you would be able to see or hear the phrase a few times without succumbing to it.

YOUR ORDERS ARE:

- Avoid the verbal pathogen.
- Destroy all instances of the pathogen, or anything that could spread it.
- Anyone who has been infected cannot leave the station alive.

We have reason to believe that one of your companions is a cultist themselves. You cannot trust them. Do not reveal your true identity unless completely necessary.
